Where Is Sandoval?

Was Francisco I. Guzman, who was reported to have been executed in Juarez Sunday night, in reality Lic. Lols Bonales Sandoval?

This question has been worrying the friends of the Mexico City attorney since Saturday, when he checked out at the Paso del Norte and has not been seen since. Sandoval was here en route to Chihuahua to see Villa and was travelling under as assumed name. When he returned from Chihuahua, he registered at the hotel under his right name. He was last seen in El Paso on Saturday morning, when he pald his bill at the hotel and inquired about the trains to San Antonio. The clerkwat the city ticket office of the G. H. say that Sandoval, who was known to them, has not bought a ticket to San Antonio from their office and there was no sleeping car reservation made in his name on the chart at the Sunset office.

Guzman, reported to be the victim, figured prominently in the revolt against president Madero in Mexico against president Madero in Mexico

Within a few minutes after his arrival, so the report goes, Guzman was led out of Villa's room, stood up before an adobe wall, and, with his

Secretary of War Wires Gea. Bliss to Extend His Congratulations

To Mes Under Him.

Washington, D. C. Feb. 3.—Secretary of war Garrison has made public the following letter written to Brig. Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, commanding the United States forces on the Mexican border, commending him for his conduct of the situation.

"I have just been going over the reports concerning the arrangements made for the thousands of Mexican refugees at El Paso. This brought back to my mind the mature and character of work which you and those under you have, been performing for so long a time in such an unexceptionable manner. I am impelled to give expression to the appreciation that I and all others of those who know the situation have of the high character of the service rendered.

"It would be difficult to conceive of more embarrassing circumstances than those existing along the border during the time in question; even slight mistakes were likely to have momentous consequences. The service called for intelligence, courage, activity and the exercise of a rare degree of wisdom. That you and the men working under you have possessed and used effectively all of those qualities is a matter of the greatest pride to me, as the head of the department, and to all of those who know the worth of the army and are glad to see it publicly demonstrated.

"Tou have had under your jurisdiction over a thousand miles of border to patrol and have had to meet and dispose of questions of the most difficult and delicate character almost daily. That you have done so in a way to win universal approbation of your course estitles you and all of those under you who have so efficiently aided you not only to my thanks but to those of the country that I and you represent in this ragard.

"Twill be pleased if "on will communicate the substance of this letter to the officers and men under your command so that they may know that their service is appreciated at its real value."

JUAN TERRAZAS is believed to have been executed in Junez Monday night by order of Villa.

Terraras is a Mexican cattle agent and is no relation of Gen. Lais Terraras. He was arrested on the streets in Junez Monday afternoon and taken before Villa by the soldiers. Villa called in a number of his friends who are familiar with conditions in north-western Chihushua, where Terraras has been operating, and asked their opinion of him. It developed at this informal trial that Terrazas was an agent of Castillo in getting cattle out of the country. It was also reported that he was in charge of the large herd of cattle which had been rounded up by Salazar and other federal commanders and had been sold by them to Junez butchers. Terraras was identified as the man who was associated with Castillo and was accused of being a spy by some of Villa's Mexican advisers in Junez.

ZARAGOSA BRIGADE REVIEWED BY VILLA

"They look fit," was the terse reply of Villa.

So far as equipment is concerned, the Zaragosa brigade is the best looking body of figsting men that has yet been seen in Juarez. They were reviewed Monday afternoon by Gen. Villa, preparatory to entraining for Escalon to enter the campaign against Torreon. New rifles, uniforms and horses make the brigade a smarter looking military organization than any reviewed in Juarez since the rebels took possession of the town.

Although they are well equipped, the soldiers of the Zaragoza contingent have not the seasoned look of some of the other fighting forces that have come and gone from Juarez in the last four months. Many of them are recruits without military experience. A long period of inactivity in Juarez has put them in prime physical condition. Their horses are also ready for hard work. Gen. Villa seemed pleased at the showing made by the brigade and complimented Gen. Benavides on its appearance.

Entraining of the troops for the southern journey will begin Tuesday afternoon. It is estimated that three or four days will clapse before the whole force has left fuarez. Three or four hundred men will be left to garrison the town until the arrival of the command under Col. Fidel Avila, who will succeed Gen. Benavides as commander of the garrison.

For Ammunition Smugglers

Many Carloads of Cartridges Are Shipped to the Border and Disappear; Troop Patrol Too Small to Prevent Wholesale Crossing of Ammunition; Women and Children Aid the Rebels.

I february is a hole in the bottom of the sea, as the old song says there is, it is certain that there is a large hole in the border patrol line along the border.

The rebels in Juarez are getting ammunition dally from the American side in spile of the vigiliance of the United States soldiers. Carload after carload of ammunition is arriving in El Paso from the ammunition houses in the east. This ammunition houses in the east. This ammunition is never shipped further than El Paso, and there is little of it actually carried in stock on the shelves of the ammunition stores. The general supposition is that this ammunition percolates through the patrol line and lands in the rebell chartel in Juarez. The government officers admit that much ammunition is being smuggled across the river above and below El Paso, but they are powerless to stop it except at the source. Their secret agents watch the ammunition continues to cross and no one knows exactly where the leak in the reals of the border ammunition is the line is. one knows exactly where the leak in

The little Island near the El Paso foundry is known to the border gun runners as the "Big Hole" because so much ammunition has been taken across there since the Villa revolution started. This Island is on the American side of the liver but is on the Mexican side of the liver but is on the Mexican side of the line. If the ammunition is once crossed over the line, it does not have to be taken across the river, but may be left in one of the little adobe houses on the Mexican side and delivered later. A regular traffic in ammunition has been carried on at this point and thousands of rounds are said to have been crossed. "Hig Hole" in the Island.
